Overview

China's state-owned power generation enterprise Datang Group said on June 30 that it had connected to the grid a 50 MW/100 MWh project in Qianjiang, Hubei Province, making it the world's largest operating sodium-ion battery energy storage system. In 2024, China Datang's total installed power generation capacity surpassed 200 GW, thanks to a record increase of over 20 GW of new capacity added within the year. Remaining committed to the development of new energy, China Datang has contributed significantly to the building of a new energy. The first phase of Datang Group's 100 MW/200 MWh sodium-ion energy storage project in Qianjiang, Hubei Province, was connected to the grid. The supplier of the batteries, HiNa Battery, announced on.
