

Latest news on photovoltaic panel disputes

Overview

As of August 2025, we've crossed a major milestone: over 3,000 active cases. That's 3,000 homeowners standing up to lenders over unfair solar panel loans. Hundreds of these cases are already in arbitration, moving through discovery and scheduling. The California Supreme Court is set to hear oral arguments in a lawsuit from environmental groups arguing regulators wrongfully slashed credits for homeowners with solar panels. This fall will be extremely busy, with trials set. In recent years, solar energy has been promoted as a sustainable solution to reduce carbon footprints and lower energy costs. But with this expansion, has come an increasing number. Canary Media senior editor Eric Wesoff explains the latest in a history of solar PV trade disputes involving the U. photovoltaics manufacturers petitioned the Department.
