In the quiet, sun-drenched landscapes of Bigene, a quiet revolution is taking place, one that flows from the earth and is powered by the sky. For generations, the rhythm of life in rural Guinea-Bissau has been dictated by the search for water. We install solar energy systems all over the country, islands included, having hundreds of solar pumps already installed. We sell and have maintenance contracts with diesel. Solar-powered water pumping has become a smart, viable option for potable water service in rural development. From Guinea to Ghana, Nigeria to Kenya, thousands of families, farmers, and NGOs are switching to solar water pumps for boreholes, wells, and irrigation. Which pump you select a pumping solution depends on your application.
